

To the FCC:

As a consumer of the media I am strongly against any relaxation of the cross-ownership rules that prevent the dominance of one or a few viewpoints in various media markets. It's like taking away all but one or two dishes from the buffet table!

Such a change would mean that more than ever, freedom of the press would be reserved for those that own presses.

Please reconsider your ill-advised change in position, driven by the request of the media monoliths. Let freedom of expression reign!

Sincerely yours,
Edith Updike
